Board Development Criteria

Those persons seeking nomination to the Board are required to meet these criteria as developed by the Committee and approved by the Board. It is important that potential Board members be able to demonstrate:

PASSION: in an uncompromising commitment to the Mission & Vision of Variety;

ETHICS: by conforming to acceptable community standards, legally, morally and "doing what is right";

UNDERSTANDING: the role of a non-profit Board member and the difference between governance and administration, and being mindful of the need to avoid involvement in day-to-day operations;

GIVING: is a basic requirement of serving on a non-profit board. Board members should "give" before asking others to do so. Giving can take the form of "time, talent, and treasure";

GETTING: Board members have a responsibility to contribute to fund development (fundraising) through providing introductions to potential donors, both personal and corporate, and encouraging one's own peers to become involved; and TIMING: Is it the right time and place to become involved; is it the right time to move on.

These criteria will be applied to not only incoming Board members, but existing Board members as well.

The apportionment of time and talent is central to what will make good board membership. To some extent, this is intangible, but in many aspects, we require and measure it. Board members are expected to come prepared and to attend all meetings. Variety expects and encourages diverse, well-considered points of view.

Board members are expected to have a strong understanding of Variety and its Mission & Vision and are expected to participate regularly with time commitments to Committee meetings, social events and fundraisers on behalf of Variety.

The following list, in no particular order, contains the skills, experience, traits and knowledge Variety is looking for in potential Board members:
